Letter of Endorsement:

The SAIT Telecom program is an amazing opportunity for students who want to enter the elite profession of high tech communications. The world is advancing into the next generation of hybrid networks combining terrestrial and satellite communications that provide seamless global coverage. It's great to know that the enthusiastic faculty at SAIT teaches students to be current, creative and professional in their problem solving. As an employer, I suggest keeping an eye on SAIT graduates as first round draft picks to stack your team.
